

ABSTRACT

A method for controlling access rights to data stored in a hand portable device, comprising: a) storing a plurality of data assemblages in the hand portable device ;

- 5 b) accessing a first data assemblage; c) in response to step b), automatically restricting subsequent access to the first data assemblage using a first security mechanism; d) accessing a second data assemblage; and e) in response to step d), automatically restricting subsequent access to the second data assemblage using the first security mechanism.

10

Fig. 2